GoTechnologies ™

Everything begins with Go.

A new identity built for movement, connection and everything that comes next.

Brand Identity Direction Prepared By Tourithm

2026

This isn’t a brand built for where Go is today. It’s built for where Go can go next.

It begins with real-world journeys and mobility, but the bigger opportunity is to create technology that makes complex experiences feel simpler, more connected and more human.

The new identity is designed with that future in mind a brand capable of starting in Sri Lanka, growing across products and eventually travelling beyond borders. We wanted this identity to feel like a beginning, not a finish, something Go can grow into as new ideas, opportunities and markets begin to take shape.

Built in Sri Lanka. Designed for the world.

“Go” is more than a name. It is a direction.
Everything Begins With Go.

A symbol built to move.

Rather than building the identity around decorative typography, we created a standalone vector symbol that transforms GO into a visual expression of movement, connection and destination.

Space is part of the identity.

The GO symbol should always be given enough room to stand on its own, preserving clarity, balance and visual impact. Consistent clear space helps the mark remain instantly recognizable, prevents surrounding elements from competing with it, and ensures the identity feels clean, confident and considered across every application.

What makes Go, Go.

The “G” form

At the core of the symbol is a modular interpretation of the letter G the beginning of Go. It also represents the idea of a starting point: ground level, ground zero, and the place where movement begins.

The arrow detail

The inner cut creates a forward directional form that reflects travel, movement and progress. It connects directly to the journey-based products Go Technologies aims to build, while also representing momentum and what comes next.

The “O” connection

The circular O completes the symbol, bringing balance and continuity to the mark. It visually reinforces the word Go while representing connection, completion and the destination ahead.

Words that move with the brand →

Core Brand Idea

Everything begins with Go.

The central thought behind the identity , Go as a starting point, a direction and a mindset.

Brand Positioning

Technology for journeys that matter.

Defines the space Go Technologies wants to own: technology built around meaningful real-world experiences.

Brand Motto

Built to Move. Made to Connect.

A concise expression of movement, technology and connection.

Corporate Signature

Built in Sri Lanka. Designed for the world.

Communicates where Go begins and the scale of where it intends to go.

Built for the real world.

The Go Technologies identity is built to extend beyond the logo itself. Across signage, apparel, merchandise, mobility surfaces and everyday brand materials, the system remains clear, modern and instantly recognizable. Each application reinforces the same idea — movement, connection and a brand designed to grow confidently into the future.

One Go. More ways to move.

One Symbol. A growing family.

The GO symbol is the shared visual signature of the Go Technologies ecosystem. It creates an immediate connection between the master brand and the products built beneath it, while allowing each product to communicate its own purpose.

GO Chauffeur™

The symbol says Go.
The name says where.

The GO symbol acts as the shared visual prefix across the Go family. It creates consistency between the master brand and its products without repeating the word “Go” inside every visual lockup. For the corporate identity, the complete Go Technologies name is retained. For product brands, the GO symbol is followed directly by the product descriptor.

In writing, use the complete product name. In the visual identity, the GO symbol carries the “Go” prefix. GO is the family. The second name defines the journey.

Built from the same foundation. Designed for a different journey.

GoChauffeur carries the visual confidence of Go Technologies into a more focused travel and mobility experience creating a clear relationship between the parent brand and the product people interact with.

Built for small spaces.

Master Brand →

For compact digital applications, the master brand uses the standalone GO symbol as its primary identifier. Across social profile images, favicons and other small-format environments, the symbol preserves recognition without relying on the complete corporate wordmark.

Product Brand →

Where space allows, GoChauffeur uses the compact GO + Chauffeur lockup to maintain clear product identification while remaining connected to the master brand. In extremely small applications such as favicons, the shared GO symbol may be used independently where the product descriptor would no longer remain legible.

One symbol. Clear recognition.

The system is designed to scale naturally across the Go ecosystem allowing the master brand to remain distinctive while giving each product enough context to be recognized at a glance.

From screen to street.

GoChauffeur is designed to live where the journey happens — across digital interfaces, vehicles, people and real-world travel moments. The shared GO identity creates familiarity, while the product experience gives GoChauffeur its own role within the wider Go Technologies ecosystem.

Everything Begins With Go.

Where does Go go next?

Go Technologies was never designed around a single moment, product or destination. The identity is built with room to evolve from one idea to many, from Sri Lanka to new markets, and from a growing technology venture into a brand people can recognize, trust and move forward with.

There’s always somewhere to Go next

Here’s to where Go goes next.
